

What's so great about chairing?

An exciting leadership role:

Leading – the board to oversee the work of the charity, and leading the organisation in partnership with the Chief Executive.

Guiding – the board to make good decisions, stay focused on the aims of the charity, and keep in mind the big picture.

Building – productive relationships with staff, volunteers and trustees.

Harnessing – the various skills, experience and energy of all your diverse board members to create a high performing team.

What you could gain:

A rewarding, challenging, motivating experience.

A learning curve and a great development opportunity.

A chance to use existing skills and develop new ones.

The opportunity to really make a difference by helping to build a flourishing board to lead a resilient, thriving charity.

A personally fulfilling and professionally valuable role with many transferable skills.

Chairing - extraordinary volunteering
